

This architectural section drawing shows a building with a sloped roof. The upper portion of the drawing details the internal structure, including rooms, corridors, and mechanical systems. The lower portion shows a large, open space, possibly a hall or auditorium, with a flat floor and a series of columns supporting the structure above. The drawing is labeled with numbers 1, 2, and 3, and includes various annotations and dimensions.